

Wired Home Networking for Your Family's Health

EMF Danger

EMF or Electro Magnetic Fields from Wi-Fi (and wireless) radiate energy waves that cause harm. Countless studies show that EMF is an unseen trigger for cancer and other serious health maladies.[†]

Do you know that

- an alarming mountain of evidence corroborates the dangers that Wi-Fi and other wireless technologies pose to health?[†]
- Wi-Fi is significantly more profitable for providers, so they aggressively market convenience to consumers while paying lobbyists and bought “scientists” to hide and deny health hazards?
- removing Wi-Fi networks and other forms of EMF in your home will create a much healthier environment for all of your loved ones, 24/7?[†]

Don't allow corporate greed to seriously harm your family.
Go Wired!!

With a wired home network, you can

- keep your favorite devices
- retain your current home Internet provider
- enjoy faster download/upload speeds for streaming, browsing, and sharing files
- maintain better reliability and security
- avoid overloaded networks that slow down with more users
- benefit from plug and play convenience for most devices
- incorporate advanced security cameras around your home
- eliminate a serious hidden health risk with potentially deadly long-term consequences

Make the switch and ditch Wi-Fi by having
State of Readiness install a wired network in your home.
It's quick, painless, and so worthwhile.

Installation includes: all network cabling, in-wall Ethernet outlets, Ethernet switch(es), cable labelling, integration of your existing modem or an upgraded unit, connecting and testing your devices, and our 5 minute “you're online” training.
